

'Grace' fails in Mokena

By Glenn Logan

MOKENA — Grace Center is dead, as far as Mokena is concerned.

The incorporators of the proposed rehabilitation or job training center have been notified to look for another location. From all indications, it is not likely they will endeavor to remain here.

William Welsch of the Welsch Lumber Co., which formerly occupied the quarters on Wolf Rd., leased it to Grace Center. He announced at the Village Board meeting last week that the lease was subject to termination on 60 days' notice and that he would advise the Rev. Carroll Pearson, Orland Park, head of the proposed center, to seek another location. At the same meeting the Rev. Mr. Pearson said the center would not remain here if it was not wanted.

That it was in fact not wanted was evidenced by the filing of a petition protesting its location in Mokena — a petition signed by 494 persons.

At the Village Board meeting the audience was estimated at 125. Asked to show their sentiments by a display of hands, only six persons, including Welsch and Pearson, voted in favor of the center. All the others in the audience voted against it.

Welsch was one of the first speakers after Mr. Pearson addressed the board and audience. Welsch said he alone was responsible for entering into a deal to establish a rehabilitation center here.

Said Welsch, "I made the lease with Mr. Pearson. It has a termination clause that takes a 60-day notice. This petition filed here tonight contends the location is not properly zoned.

"Now, let's be honest. Zoning doesn't have anything to do with this. If you LOCKPORT — The local office of the Southwest Graphic, 1022 State St., was burglarized sometime between 4:45 p.m. Friday and 10:45 a.m. Saturday.

A spokesman for the newspaper said an eight-band Ross radio, valued at about $170, was taken. No other items were reported missing.

Officer Leroy Irvin of the local police investigated.

Garbage fees changed

MOKENA — The Village Board has adopted a new ordinance covering garbage pick-up charges. The measure differs slightly from the one adopted several months ago. The change is in the paragraph covering pick-ups at commercial and industrial stops. The charge is $2 per cubic yard, "to be pro-rated for a part thereof." The pro-rated part is new.

The charges for the other stops, covering a two-month period, remain the same: $4 for a single-family house; $3.70 per unit up to four flats; $3.30 for each unit in a six-flat building, and $2.90 for an eight-flat.

An ordinance annexing the 226-acre Owen Land Trust on U.S. 30 was adopted by the Village Board, as was a measure establishing the zoning, embracing the pre-annexation agreement adopted at a prior meeting.

The property extends north and south of U.S. 30, from the Michigan Central tracks on the south almost to the village limits on the north. It will be a planned unit development, with commercial and residential improvements and recreational spots, including a man-made lake.

According to plans, the development will have sewage treatment facilities, which the village hopes in time to make use of.

Meanwhile the Village Board last week adopted an agreement prepared by Village Attorney George E. Sandmeister under which the village acquires land from the Wayne Manguns and Mrs. Anna Hayes as a polishing pond site, adjacent to the sewage treatment plant north of Mokena on Wolf Rd.

The state has ordered the village to add the polishing pond to its treatment cycle. The property purchased, according to the agreement, is the back end of two lots along the drainage ditch into which the plant effluent flows. It is costing the village $5,000, which will be divided between the sellers.

Trustee Robert Teske announced that he was extending the time for apartment and business houses to black-top parking lots until May, as blacktopping and cold do not mix.

Bond meeting slated

NEW LENOX -- A public meeting is slated for 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 6 in the Oakview School gymnasium to acquaint people with the Dec. 12 school bond referendum.

The announcement was made last weekend by school officials. All persons interested in the youth of the community are urged by board members to attend.

The board is asking the voters of the New Lenox

The board also voted to have toilet facilities installed on the main floor of the library building, and talked of letting that portion of the structure be used for public meetings--possibly a youth club.

Sangmeister is to revamp the trailer ordinance to provide for better controls.

Bond meeting slated

Public School District 122 to approve a $700,000 bond issue at the referendum.

According to a board spokesman, all classrooms in the seven buildings of the system are now in use to house the 2,021 students enrolled. Enrollment next September, the spokesman said, is expected to exceed 2,120, and by Fall, 1972 the enrollment is expected to reach or pass the 2,250 mark. Conservative projecdinance to forbid snowmobiles in the parks. The vil-tions indicate 2,600 students will be enrolled by 1975, the spokesman said.

To meet these demands for classroom space, he continued, it is necessary to begin building as soon as possible. Approval of the bond issue, the spokesman said, will enable the board to prepare plans and specifications so contracts could be let in early Spring. Construction could get underway as soon as weather permits.

want to base your objections on that you'll have a fight on your hands.

"I thought I had an opportunity to help someone help others — a chance one seldom has — but apparently some of you don't want a rehabilitation center here. I don't think some of your objections are good ones. You say you don't want any drug addicts or other undesirables here. Well, we already have some. But if you don't want the center here, say so, and I will tell Mr. Pearson he has to look for another location."

There was a move to take a vote immediately, but others wanted to express their views on the subject. Mayor Will Tuttle gave everyone who wanted to talk an opportunity to do so.

The proposed center planned to give handicapped persons and others with no particular skills an opportunity to work so that in time they might become self-supporting. To that end the center was seeking jobs from business and commercial firms for assembling, packaging, renovating materials and so on.

Originally, Mr. Pearson said, it was intended to lease or buy the Oak Park Motel on U.S. 30 at Wolf Rd., and house a number of the people from the center. That burned down, so that part of the program was dropped, although there was talk that living quarters might be set up in the former lumber yard.

School bond vote slated

MOKENA—Whether the Mokena school board can add four rooms to the Willowcrest School next spring will depend on the outcome of a building bond referendum to be held in the district Dec. 12.

The board is asking the authority to issue $150,000 in bonds to defray the cost of construction. The Carpenter St. School will serve as the polling place, and the polls will be open from noon to 7 p.m.

Supt. James Ennis reported to the board at a recent session that crowded conditions exist at Willowcrest. The situation could be relieved, he said, by adding four classrooms to the primary building and transferring the third grade there.

The plans call for four ground-level classrooms immediately north of the existing building. The footings and roof will be so designed that at some later date a second floor could be added. The design of the exterior will match the present plant, Ennis said.

The classrooms, the superintendent said, will be similar to those in the primary school. The only change, it was explained, is that in place of office and rest room areas in the center of the building, a resource center will be built to make use of the latest teaching techniques and innovations calculated to assist teachers in individualizing instruction to their pupils. The $150,000, according to a board spokesman, will cover the cost of construction, legal and architectural fees, and equipment.

According to information given by school officials, a person owning real estate with an equalized assessed valuation of $10,000 would find his taxes increased by $10 the first year and less each year thereafter as additional taxpayers meet their commitments, or less than 20 cents a week to provide adequate classroom space.

Village to buy water works

NEW LENOX — The Village Board has entered into an agreement to purchase for $130,000 the existing water works system here from the General Water Works Management Service Co., Philadelphia. The deal is to be finalized about Dec. 18.

The property is to be paid for through the sale of water revenue bonds. An ordinance, authorizing the sale of $130,000 of such bonds, was adopted by the board at its adjourned meeting last week.

The financial arrangements were made through the New Lenox State Bank by Dwight Engle, cashier and executive vice president. The bonds are to be issued in $5,000 denominations. The issue has been subscribed by New Lenox residents. The bonds will bear seven per cent interest and will be retired over a 15-year period. Two bonds will be retired each year, beginning Dec. 1, 1971 through 1981 and one each year from 1982 through 1985.

The ordinance also provides for issuance of an additional $130,000 in water revenue bonds for expansion moves for the system, including erection of a water storage tank.

The existing system includes three wells, two well houses with pumps, chlorinators and other equipment; 24,905 feet of 4-inch mains, 3,580 feet of 6-inch mains, 316 feet of 8-inch mains, 17 fire hydrants, and 230 meter vaults.

The system has 364 services in operation.

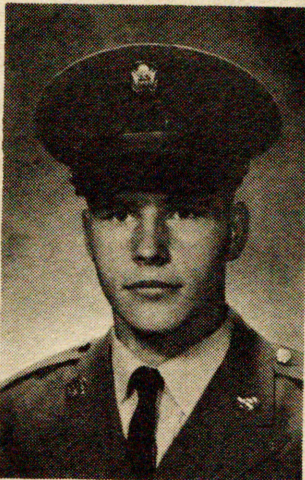

Eventually New Lenox will have a water system that will serve the entire village.

The Rev. Carroll W. Peterson (standing), the moving force behind the Grace Center, 19747 Wolf Rd., Mokena, speaks on his proposed center for rehabilitation. It was to no avail. A petition against the center signed by 494 persons was followed by a Village Board action requesting the center to move.

Village Board delays suit

MOKENA — The Village Board has agreed to hold up its demolition suit to give Herbert Folkers, Frankfort lawyer, a chance for restoration of the Boyer property at Scott St. and Wolf Rd.

Folkers said he is disposing of the property to a man who intends to remodel the house, which had been wrecked by vandals. He said he has been delayed in getting the title straightened out because Circuit Judge Stewart Hutchison held up until now his decision on a motion Folkers made about two years ago.

Village Attorney George E. Sangmeister told the board Folkers had called him to say he would file an appearance in the demolition suit. Folkers said the barn would be razed and the house restored as quickly as possible. He was warned by the board that if the restoration is delayed the village will proceed with the suit.

4-H'ers attend training

MANHATTAN — More than 75 4-H Club officers attended the Will County 4-H Officers' Training School here Dec. 1 in the Anna McDonald School, according to Michael A. Ode, assistant extension advisor.

The training school was organized and sponsored by the Will County 4-H Federation with the aid of the Cooperative Extension Service. The training sessions were conducted by Federation officers with the assistance of older 4-H Club officers.

Kenneth Bettenhausen, Frankfort, federation president, and Thea Harms, Joliet, vice president, conducted the session for presidents and vice presidents. Their duties and responsibilities were discussed and a mock business meeting was held, showing proper parliamentary procedure.

Jo Ann Vance, Plainfield, federation treasurer, conducted the session for those in charge of finances. Highlights were a discussion of proper check writing and the keeping of ledgers. Tim Harms, Joliet, federation reporter, led the session concerned with publicity.

John Francis, Wilmington, federation secretary, and Carolyn Fitzer, Joliet, and John Holz, Wilmington, corresponding secretaries, conducted the secretaries' session. Proper methods of taking minutes and other secretarial duties were stressed.

The importance of recreation and ideas for various types of recreation were presented at the session conducted by Mary Dollinger, Plainfield, and Mike McDonald, Joliet, federation recreation chairmen.

Mokena woman killed in crash

MOKENA—Funeral services were held at Mokena last Thursday noon from St. Mary Church for Mrs. Shirley Stokes, 41, of 19914 Center St., Mokena, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident in Joliet. Burial was in the parish cemetery.

Mrs. Stokes had been shopping. She was driving south on Larkin Ave. preparatory to entering I-80 on her way home when either she lost control of her car or it was forced off the road by another car and struck a signpost, according to the state police report. The accident occurred at 10:10 a.m. on Tuesday. Mrs. Stokes died at St. Joseph Hospital, Joliet, at 11:20 that morning. She had been a resident of Mokena 12 years.

A wake was held in the Hirsch Memorial Chapel, Tinley Park.

Besides her husband, John G., Mrs. Stokes is survived by four daughters, Shirley, Terri, Mary and Lori; her mother, Mrs. Mildred Curtis, Chicago; one brother, Edward, Park Forest, and six sisters, Mrs. Marie Fisher, Mrs. Elenor Verucke, Eunice, Grace, and Gloria Curtiss, Chicago; and Mrs. Ellen Fusco, of Pennsylvania.

Fire damages jewelry store

LOCKPORT — A fire at the Lockport Jewelry Store, 914 State St., caused approximately $5,000 in damage late Monday night, Nov. 23.

Lockport firemen received a call at 11:13 p.m. and were at the scene of the fire more than two hours.

The building is owned by Mrs. Rosemary Malek, 1120 Hamilton St. Three apartments, a lawyer's office above the store and stores adjacent to the building suffered minor smoke damage.

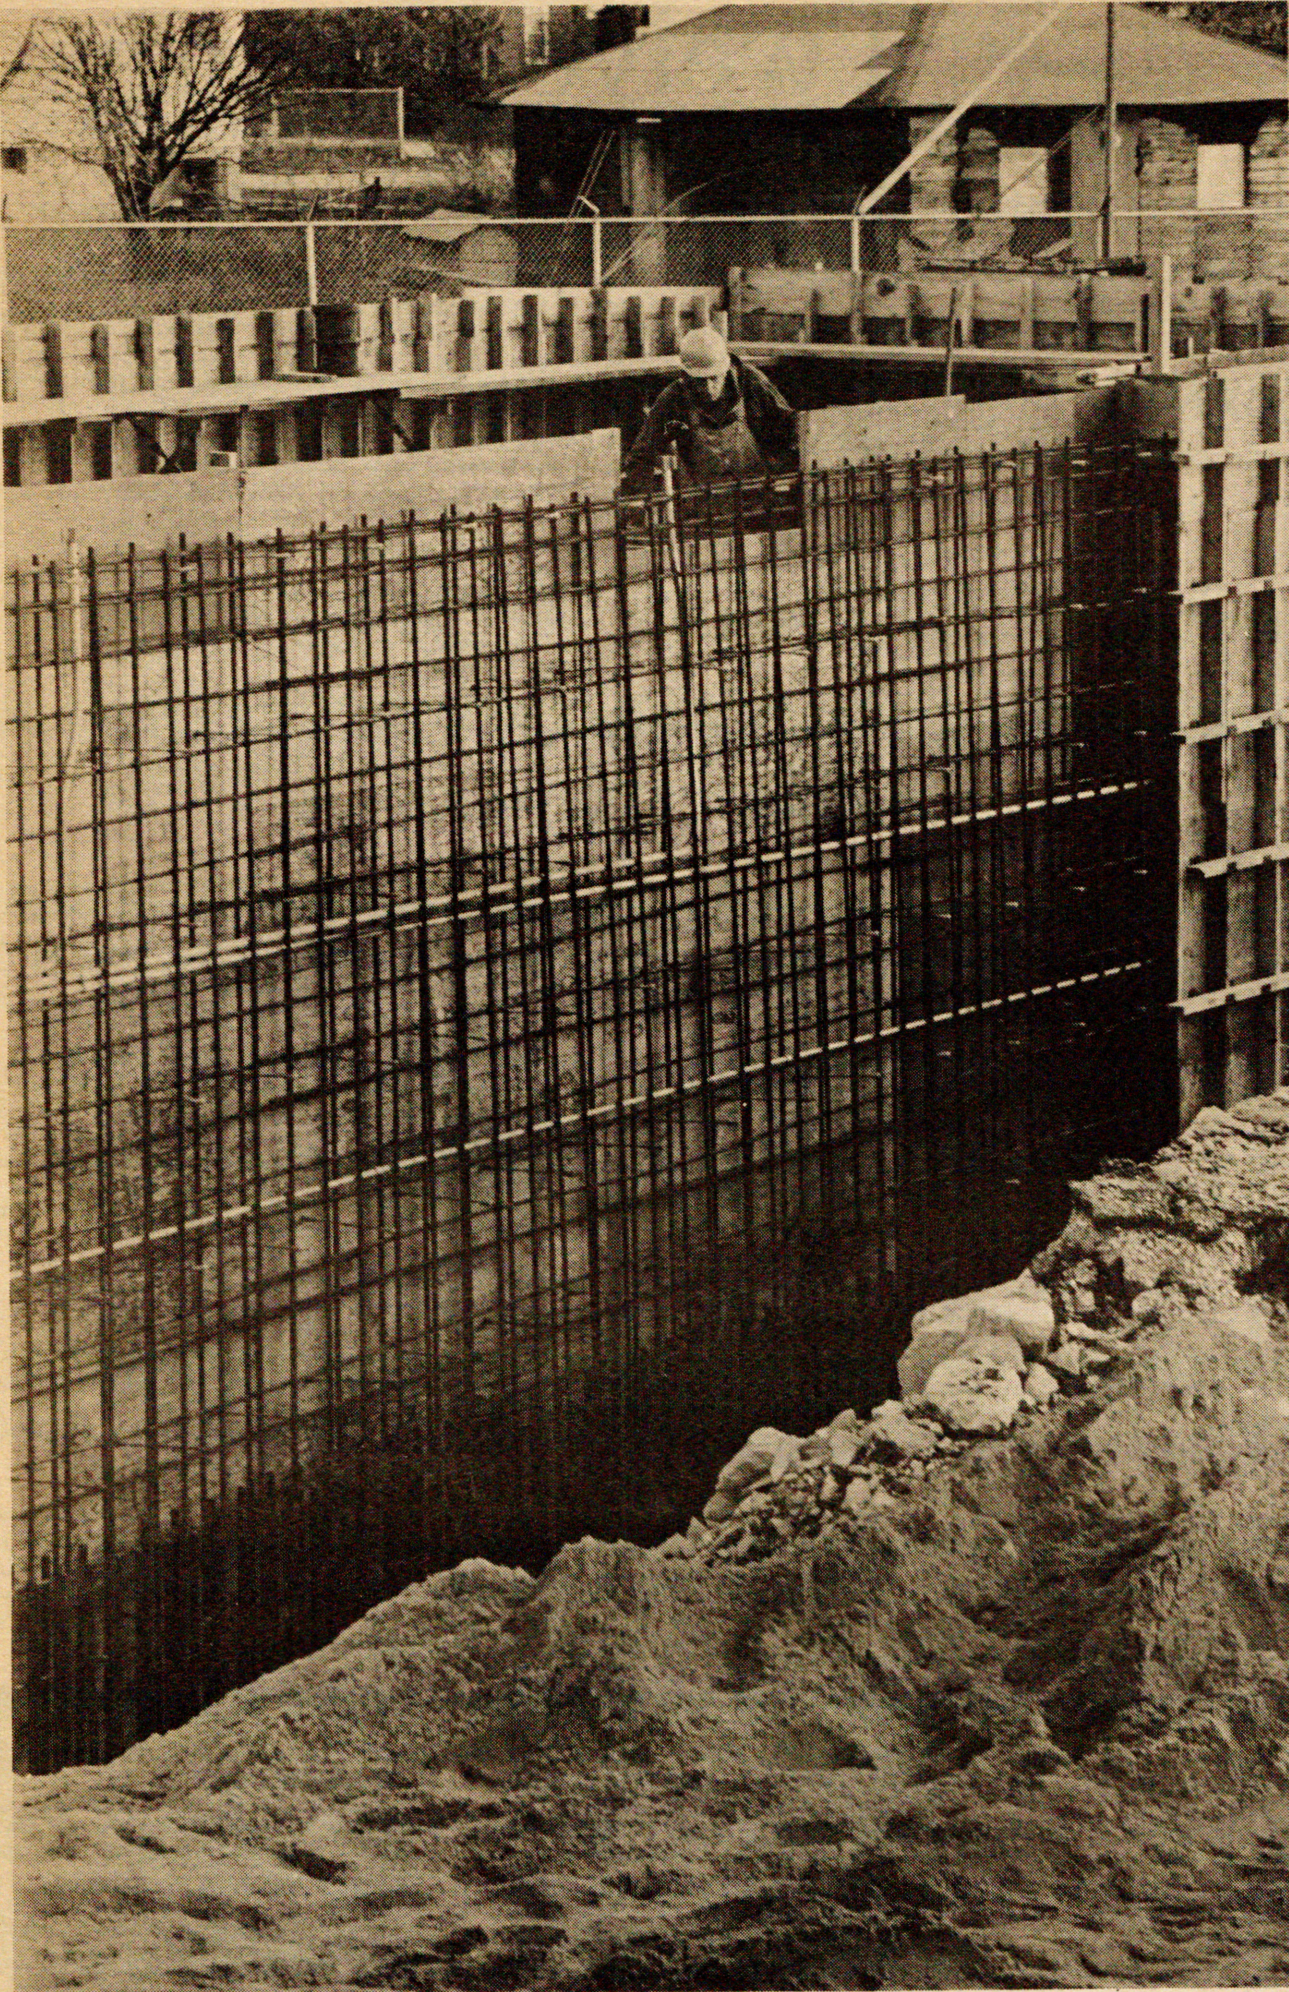

Carl Munson, Lockport fire chief, and Art Weber, the state fire marshal, investigated the blaze, but Munson said the cause is still undetermined.

Educators meet at talk

Stanley Chapas, of Lockport High School District 205, was among more than 5,000 school board members and administrators from throughout Illinois who met in Chicago Nov. 21-23 at the joint annual conference of the Illinois Association of School Boards and the Illinois Association of School Administrators. The theme of the three-day conference was "Accountability."

Delegates and members participated in 52 panel discussions, covering such topics as school-community relations, students and civil rights, salary schedules and fringe benefits and students and drugs. In addition to the panels, business meetings and round-table discussions were held during the three days.

Board members and administrators responsible for purchasing had an opportunity to see and examine the latest in school equipment, supplies and services on display in 175 exhibit booths.

Funds OK'd for summer band

FRANKFORT — When the Board of Education of District 157C held its recent regular meeting at the Frankfort School, the first order of business was a discussion concerning the summer band program. It was decided to continue to fund the program for the coming summer.

The board approved a social studies project under the NDEA-Title III federal act. If it is approved by the state, the school will receive partial reimbursement for the materials listed in the completed project.

The school board also strongly supported the resolution by the Belleville School District which is being presented to the school boards of the state at their annual convention later this month. It was agreed that discriminatory distribution of state aid money is fostered by the present formula. The Belleville resolution calls for a change to provide the same benefits for both dual and unit school districts.

In other business, the board accepted the bid of Baumgartner for the completion of the teachers' room and one classroom wall in the second level of the Chelsea School addition. The cost will be some $3,000.

The board also accepted the bid of the DeBoer Oil Company for its fuel supply this year. Other bids were received from Suburban

United Cerebral Palsy of Greater Chicago, a voluntary health agency providing programs for children and adults crippled by cerebral palsy, announced recently the names of local women who will serve as leaders of the agency's annual fund-raising drive, the "53-minute March," which will take

Oil Co. and Atlantic Richfield.

The next regular meeting of the board will be at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 14, in the library of the Frankfort School.

Serving as area chairmen are Mrs. Gerald E. McGuire, 1028 Kim Place, Lemont, Mrs. Ruth Carney, 4922 156th St., Oak Forest; Mrs. Clarence E. Creer, 14228 Union St., Orland Park, and Mrs. Wilbert Bettenhausen, 6512 175th St., Tinley Park.

Sacred Heart raises tuition

MOKENA — The board of directors of Sacred Heart High School, operated by the Franciscan Sisters of the Sacred Heart east of Mokena in St. Francis Woods, has sent a letter to students and parents dealing with its past, present and future financial situation.

It is necessary, according to the board, to raise tuition $100 a year, from $300 to $400. The board also is asking parents to assume all transportation costs. Transporting pupils is costing the school some $10,000 this year, the letter said.

The proposed increase in tuition, if the present enrollment is maintained, reportedly will not solve the money problem. This was pointed out because there will still be approximately $60,000 to be raised by other means to bring about a balance in 1972, the letter says.

The letter explains that a $25,000 debt for construction of the building is outstanding. It also says that the order has never been reimbursed for its faculty of nuns and that no money has ever been allocated to a depreciation fund. In the 1969-70 school year, $25,000 of the salaries for lay members of the faculty was paid by the order.

This year it is estimated that the total subsidy which must be borne by the Franciscan Sisters will amount to $80,387 if nuns' salaries and depreciation are added to the net cash deficit of $23,787.

College plans for open house

The new Governors State University, at Park Forest South, will have an open house for the public Sunday, Dec. 6, between 2 and 4 p.m.

The event will take place in the new Planning Building, near the southeast corner of U.S. 54 and Stuenkel Rd. Access is from Stuenkel Rd.

William E. Engbretson, president, extended the invitation to visit the first permanent building on the 750-acre site.

"We particularly want to meet our neighbors," he said. "We will have the architect's model of the university for them to see. Our associates will be present to answer questions." There will be no formal program, he noted.

The new building provides office space for faculty and staff planning. Sixty employees moved into the module from four temporary locations in November.

Upon completion of major construction facilities the building will provide plant services and warehousing space for the campus. The building embraces 11,800 square feet.

Governors State will be a senior-division institution of higher education on the junior, senior and graduate levels.

Intended primarily to serve a commuter student population, it will be operational for limited instructional purposes in temporary facilities for the 1971-72 academic year. The first phase of the permanent physical facilities is scheduled to open in September, 1973.

Pollution unit to visit plants

LEMONT — The Lemont Pollution Commission has announced that it will visit area industries to learn how they are cooperating in the struggle against air and water pollution.

Members of the commission expressed satisfaction with the cooperation of most citizens in the leaf collection program. They also thanked village employees for their work in hauling away bagged leaves left at the curb.

Harry Swanson resigned as secretary of the commission and David Tolle was appointed to succeed him. The group elected Swanson to the new positions of treasurer and librarian. The Chairman, who was elected at a meeting in August, is Thomas Schlueter.

Sewer rodder purchase off

NEW LENOX — The Village Board has deferred the purchase of a power-driven sewer rodder until spring. At an adjourned meeting of the board last week only one bid was received on a rodder.

The price was somewhat over $3,000. Board members decided the price was too steep for such a purpose at this time.

The combined Church choirs of Lockport will perform with the band. Admission is free.

The band parents will sponsor a Christmas bazaar the day of the concert. All items for the bazaar have been made and donated by band members and parents.

Do worms worry?

By Herb Hall

Will Cuppy once wrote a long article on the pressing question of whether or not fish think. He didn't come to any definite conclusion. Neither can I, but I am inclined to guess that they do, in a fishy sort of way.

That habit of salmon of going upstream to spawn must have been an idea of some ancestral fish, and passed down to its descendants. It wasn't a very good idea, from the point of view of the fish, since it involved the expenditure of all that energy resulting in being caught by the salmon fisheries. But it was, at least, an idea.

We have to admit that many ideas people come up with don't work out much better.

ment with the women of the liberation movement, I am not going to belabor this point, but I would like to make it before I pick up my coat and sneak out.

It seems curious to me that the ladies seem to ignore the great historical figures of their sex: Cleopatra, Boadicea; St. Margaret, princess of England and queen of Scotland; Joan of Arc, Elizabeth I of England, Mary of Scotland, Abigail Adams, Madame de Stael, Marie Theresa of Austria, the Bronte sisters and many others.

The answer, of course, would be that the average woman doesn't have their advantages of birth or talent, or both. But it must be admitted also that the average man is not Charlemagne or Lincoln.

We don't swim upstream to spawn, but we do a lot of other silly things. We are, for example, spawning more people than the world can comfortably accommodate, even without going to the trouble of swimming upstream.

Eventually, I suppose, somebody will write a learned article entitled "Do Worms Worry?" I think they do, but my research on the subject is not completed, and the world will have to wait. I'm afraid somebody will get in ahead of me on this study.

Now we have a spate of stuff about women's place in our civilization. From an entirely personal point of view I can say honestly that neither I nor any man I know feels superior to women. Different, but not superior.

Unlike the question of the fish, nobody has ever doubted that women think. They may think a little differently (a difference which generally makes most men, eventually, lose, or give up, any argument with a woman).

Because I know I will lose any argu-

A minority voice

It is hardly new to point out that majorities are not always right.

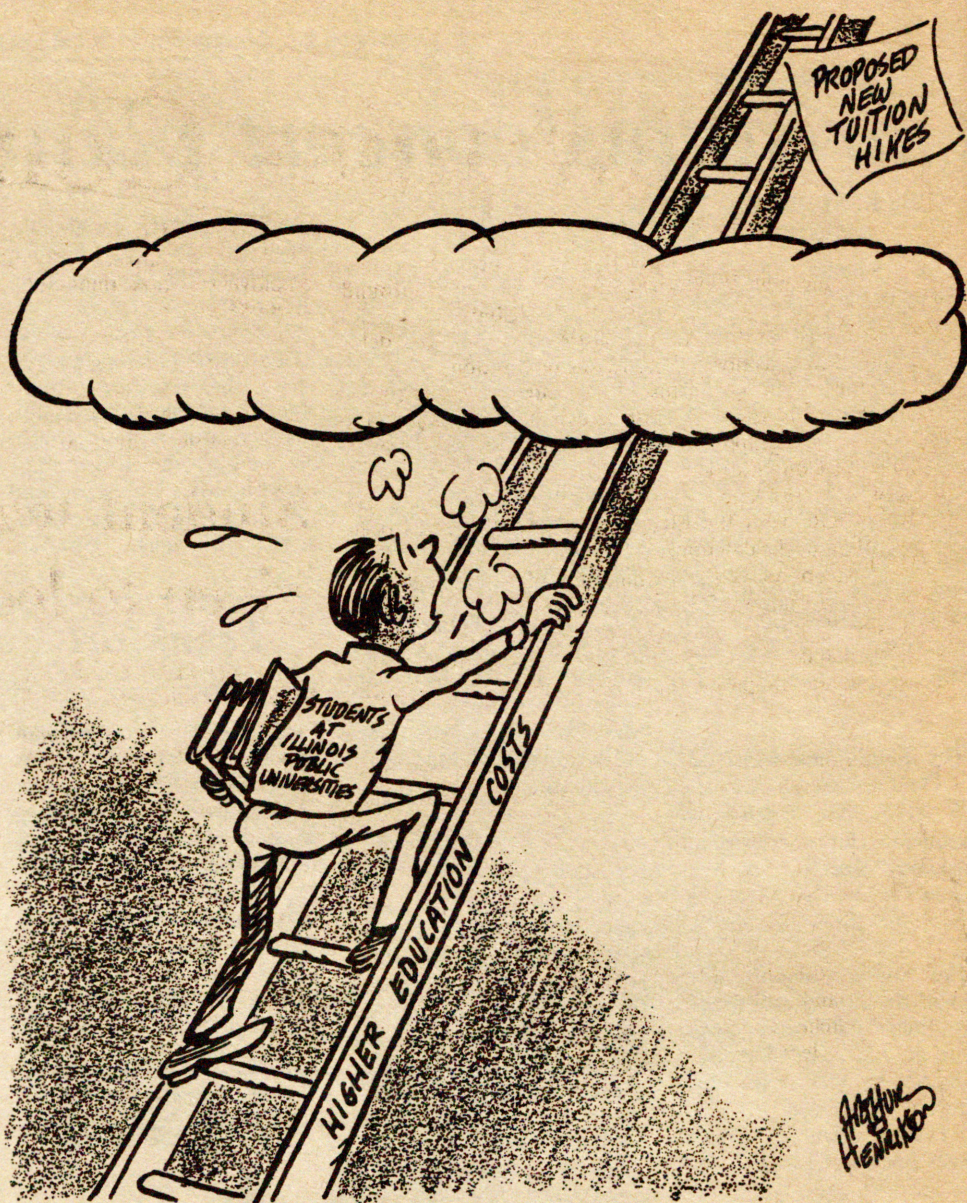

Illinois has an almost unique system of assuring that the state will not be completely swamped by any one majority party. Its constitution now provides for the peculiar system of "cumulative voting." In the state legislature the minority party is guaranteed at least one spokesman for every state legislative district.

The proposed new constitution will be up to the voters of the state December 15. Proposition 1A provides for retention of cumulative voting. It is backed by such diverse political leaders as Senator Adlai Stevenson III, Governor Richard B. Ogilvie, Lieutenant Governor Paul Simon and former Senator Ralph Tyler Smith.

Obviously this decision is not a party matter. Senator Stevenson and Lieutenant Governor Simon are Democrats. Governor Ogilvie and former Senator Smith are Republicans. All are united in the belief that the minority deserves a voice.

We heartily agree.

ONWARD AND UPWARD

The myth of epilepsy

We don't usually go in very much for special observations. We missed Sweetest Day and African Violet Week. We hope our readers didn't suffer.

It also escaped our attention that November was Epilepsy Information Month. This was something worth noticing. Epilepsy is a much mis-understood disease of the nervous system.

It is not a form of insanity. It is not a mental retardation of any kind. In a seizure a patient is in no danger of "swallowing his tongue," as the old wives' tale goes. Swallowing one's tongue is a physical impossibility. Try it, if you don't believe us.

Like all forms of nervous disorder, epilepsy has been surrounded by legend. The fact is that it has no effect on mental ability. Several people of great accomplishment, including Russian novelist Feodor Dostoevski, were afflicted with the disease.

Epileptics have an equal, and sometimes a superior, intelligence to any of us. We should recognize the fact.

Letters to the editor

Dear Sirs:

This letter could rightfully be called a query, or perhaps a proposal. I have an idea, and would like to hear how others feel about it.

In the early fall, the Police and Fire Departments held an outdoor dance for the youngsters of Lockport. The generosity of the fire-

Briefly, my point is this: I see Lockport as a growing community with great potential where exciting things can happen. I see Lockport as a family community where children grow to adulthood. I see and hear of the efforts of various churches, individual organizations (such as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Little League, schools, park district, the list is infinite) to provide recreational, as well as meaningful, activity for our leaders of tomorrow.

It occurred to me, that if we made a coordinated community effort, we could provide and support a youth center, which would be the pride of our town; the envy of surrounding cities.

An active youth center would earn Lockport the reputation of a town of culture; a modern town; a town that's "with it." The possibilities have no limit.

An active youth center would offer our youngsters a place to "run to" when they are tempted to "run from." We could have our own "Golden Goose" right here in town.

If anyone has suggestions regarding a Lockport Community Youth Center (inter-denominational, non-partisan, inter-racial), please write to me. I will try to correlate all written comments and make known (via Letters to the Editor) my findings.

Few miss Con-Con deletions

By Ed Murnane

If there is one area of agreement between proponents and opponents of the new Illinois constitution, it centers around one accomplishment of the Constitutional Convention delegates which thus far has merited little attention: the deletion of unnecessary sections of the 1870 Constitution.

One of the major criticisms of the current Constitution has been that it is too long with much of the unnecessary length due to paragraphs which no longer have any reason for being in the Constitution.

Thirteen such provisions have been deleted from the old Constitution and, with the exception of one, there has been little opposition to the deletions.

The one exception is the elimination of a statement describing the boundaries of Illinois. Framers of the new constitution say definition of boundaries is unnecessary since all state boundaries are determined by the United States Congress and are therefore meaningless in a state constitution.

The opposition to this change has been voiced by the Save Our Suburbs organization, which says this is a step toward elimination of the sovereignty of the state.

Other deletions, none of them expected to cause a great deal of fireworks, include:

—Article IV, Section 27, prohibition of lotteries. This deletion would allow lotteries.

—Article IV, Section 29, protection of miners. The current Constitution requires the general assembly to pass laws protecting miners and specifies that the law provide for ventilation, escape hatches and other safety measures. Such action is considered a legislative matter and is included in Illinois statutes.

—Article IV, Section 30, establishing roads and cartways. This outdated section gives the general assembly authority to establish roads, also considered a legislative matter.

—Article IV, Section 31, drains and ditches. Just as roads and cartways are legislative matters, so are drains and ditches.

—Article IV, Section 33, state house expenditures. This section set a limit on the amount of money that could be spent for construction or repair of the state capitol.

—Article VIII, Section 2, school property and funds. This section requires that funds donated to schools be used for the purpose for which they were donated.

—Article VIII, Section 4, school officers not to be interested in school contracts. This article made it illegal for school employees to have financial interest in schools, such as sale of books, etc.

—Article VIII, Section 5, county superintendent of schools. The new article changes the title of county superintendent.

—Article IX, Section 13, World's Columbian Exposition. This article set the groundwork for the bond sale to finance the exposition in the 1890s.

—Article XI, Sections 4, 9-15, railroad provisions. These articles set standards for organization, rates and consolidation of railroads, provisions which now are governed by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

—Article XII, Section 5, preservation of records. This section states that "military records, banners and relics of the state shall be preserved as an enduring memorial of the patriotism and valor of Illinois."

—Article XIII, sections relating to warehouses, the Illinois Central Railroad convict labor canals etc.

Most of the deletions which appear to still have relevance have not been removed because they are not important, but rather because they are already provided for in state statutes or through federal regulations. Others, such as the Columbian Exposition, were merely outdated and had no purpose in being included in the Constitution.

Student teaching job given to local girl

LEMONT — Donna Wolske, 13340 S. Maple, has been assigned as a student teacher at John Hersey High School, Arlington Heights.

Miss Wolske, a student at the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana, is one of 500 seniors and graduate students to receive practice-teaching assignments.

For six to eight weeks they will work under the guidance of experienced teachers in high schools throughout the state.

Student teachers not only observe the day-to-day operation of classes, but also take part in preparing lessons and teaching classes.

Prof. William D. Johnson, head of the teaching experiences laboratory at the U. of I. College of Education, said all the selected practice teachers are "exceptionally well qualified to teach" and are maintaining a straight B average at Illinois.

Student teaching represents the climax of a long program of academic and professional training, Johnson noted.

Fossils, fluorite are school topics

By Laura Anderson
838-4839

Fifty-one students and eight adults attended the November meeting of the Homer Junior Earth Science Club to hear Tom Lash, senior ESCONI member, speak on fluorite, the Illinois state mineral.

Mrs. Bonnie Dyer, study group chairman, introduced Cindy Temple, an eighth grade student at Homer School, whose topic was fossils.

Then Lash explained the difference between fluorite, fluorine and fluoride and told of the many ways in which fluorite is used.

Each child who arrived on time was awarded a specimen of quartz crystals collected in an abandoned zinc mine in Arkansas by Luther Schilling. They also received a calcite specimen from the Minerva Mines, Rosiclare.

Mark Molle will be the student speaker for the January meeting.

A basketball game between St. Joseph's School of Manhattan and Homer School will be played at Homer on Tuesday, Dec. 8 at 6:15 p.m. On Friday, Dec.

11, Homer will play Wheatland at Homer at 6:15 p.m.

Thanksgiving is behind us and Christmas looms. Or did Christmas loom long before Thanksgiving this year? Anyway, it is honestly time to be interested in Christmas, and while I resent the commercial push, I am interested.

Of course I'm older than I used to be. I admit it. But I don't think some of my attitudes toward Christmas come from just that; I had some of these attitudes when I was a young mother with dirty little boys getting excited over the prospect of Christmas toys.

Some of the same things to which I objected then are still with us, and a good many more "objectionables" have been added to the things being offered now.

I may be trying to warp the ids of young America by maintaining that kids don't need everything TV tells them they do. All of us want to see the kids we love find something special in Christmas. What I object to is that most children receive so much that nothing is really "special."

The commercial pitch television throws at kids is sneaky. "Tell mommy to take you into the store to see — whatever it is." Or "Tell mommy that everybody has a — whatever it is." That teaches the child to keep up with the Joneses before he's even old enough to meet the Joneses socially. It also teaches him that he can weasel mommy and daddy into almost anything if he is enough of a pest.

Aside from the pressuring, some of the toy offerings leave my enthusiasm quite untouched. Many of these horrors are geared to attract the adult, anyway. The more complicated and expensive they are, the more the adult is convinced the child ought to have them.

According to the opinions of several store managers I know, a small child taken into a glittering display of elaborate toys will eventually pick himself a ball or a wagon or something he can cope with.

Some toys are dangerous. Plastics that shatter; toys which come apart, letting the small child swallow what is inside; toys with sharp pieces which can inflict serious injury; toys that are inflammable. Most parents check for these things, although they are not always apparent.

Almost as bad, perhaps, is the emphasis on guns and war toys. Toys of destruction don't stimulate the imagination in any constructive way. And I don't know what it is that Barbie Dolls teach girls. I do know a couple of fathers who think they ought to be able to take "Barbie" as a tax deduction after they find out how much her clothes cost!

Big solid blocks; toys that can be pushed and pulled; dolls that can be dragged by one arm and not utter a word; toys which let the child use his own imagination are still objects of pleasure. There are good educational toys which, while complicated, teach a child to do something besides change batteries.

The biggest part of Christmas ought to be in loving and giving. Old fashioned as it may seem, children still need to learn the joy of making things and of giving of themselves.

Of course there is pleasure in the window displays and the merchants have to make a buck. But the teaching of a "gimmee" attitude toward Christmas is a mistake. As long as we have merchandising and TV the attitude is a little hard to avoid. Still, it might be a good thing if children were taught to expect useful gifts and fun gifts of a modest nature, with each child hoping for one cherished "dream come true" gift. To do this, we'd have to make things a little less like Christmas the rest of the year. Too many children have but to "want" and somebody fills the want. If they had to wait a little, and work toward something, and just plain "want" a little more, it might be hard on the toy industry but very good for building spinal structures where some youngsters seem to have spaghetti.

Sometimes we are too good to our children. At the risk of incurring their occasional displeasure or not having them "like" us very well sometimes, we might be doing them a big favor if we taught them to be good to US. That idea may not be nearly as selfish as it sounds!

Name girl, 13, top musician

LOCKPORT — Thirteen-year-old Kathy Fitzgerald has been selected as the outstanding eighth grade musician of the year in the Kelvin Grove School Band. She will perform with the "superior" Kelvin Grove Grade School Symphonic Band in the winter and spring concerts at Kelvin Grove, the Vandercook College of Music concert in Chicago and the instrumental conductors' conference in Hattiesburg, Miss.

Peter Pappas, director of bands at Kelvin Grove for nine years, said, "Miss Fitzgerald's tone quality and technique has amazed music educators in Will County for the last two years. Her technique far surpasses the above-average music student. She is at least four years ahead of herself."

Kathy began playing the clarinet in second grade and has been the principal clarinetist in her section for seven years. She is a private student of Pappas'.

In the winter concert, scheduled at 8 p.m. Dec. 11, she will perform the "Concertino for Clarinet" by Weber. This solo is widely used as a required number for freshman college music majors.

Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fitzgerald, and the granddaughter of Ernest O. Caneva.

Suburban Living

ESPECIALLY FOR THE FAMILY

Miss Bembenek is married

LOCKPORT — St. Joseph Catholic Church was the scene of the recent wedding of Sharon Bembenek to Timothy Hopman. The Rev. Edward Langan officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of Alencon lace and ivory satin with an empire bodice, high neckline and detachable train. Her veil fell from a beaded Camelot headpiece and her bouquet was a cascade of ivory roses and babies' breath.

The bride's sister, Bonnie, was maid of honor and wore a floor-length gown of deep elot-style headpieces and each carried a single rose with matching streamers.

The ringbearer was Dan Schaab, Lemont, cousin of the bride.

Dennis Maler, Hillside, was the best man and Bruce Maler, La Grange Park, was an usher.

The bride's mother wore a two-piece blue ensemble with matching accessories. The groom's mother wore a green ensemble with matching accessories. Their corsages were roses and babies' breath.

A reception for 130 guests at the bride's home followed the ceremony. After a wedding trip to Miami, the couple are living in Tinley Park.

Lions' wives form club

LEMONT — A club is being organized by the wives of Lemont Lions Club members. It will be known as the Ladies of the Lemont Lions Club and will be part of women's branches now being organized across the country.

Officers elected at a recent organizational meeting at the home of William G. Keenan are Mrs. Keenan, president; Mrs. Dennis Lazar, vice president; Mrs. Joseph Houdek, secretary; and Mrs. Robert Legan, treasurer. Plans were discussed for future fund-raising projects.

The next meeting, at 8 p.m. Dec. 15, will be at the home of Mrs. Fred Mark.

Miss Bette Jean Adelmann will reign as this year's Queen of Light for the annual Lucia Festival.

Pick queen for festival

LOCKPORT — Miss Bette Jean Adelmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adelmann, 325 Parkview Lane, is this year's Queen of Light for the annual Lucia Festival.

The festival, a traditional Swedish celebration, will be held at 4 p.m. Dec. 13 in Covenant Community Church, 18th and Jefferson Sts., Lockport.

The Lucia legend originated in Sicily around the year 300 A.D. Lucia was to be the bride of a nobleman, but before the wedding, gave her dowry to the poor of the village. Her intended husband suspected she was a Christian and informed the Romans, who tortured her and burned her at the stake. She was later made a saint and is considered the symbol of light, faith and Christian charity.

The Lucia Festival has been celebrated in Sweden for many years and heralds the approaching Christmas season with candlelight and traditional songs. In Swedish homes, the eldest daughter in the family awakens and dresses in a long white gown, a red sash and a crown of candles and serves coffee, special buns and cookies to the family.

Miss Adelmann will be attended by a court of Star Girls. They are Denise Buch, Melody Rauman, Lori Zeitler, Cathy Sly, Dana Swindells, Mary Oestry, Kristyn Sodergren, Beth Jagers, Tina Johnson and Jill Kolmodin.

The program will consist of an organ prelude, offertory and postlude by LEW Davies, with the invocation and Scripture by the Rev. Ralph Dirksen. The program also will include vocal selections by Robert Norman, Chicago; marimba numbers by Mrs. Richard Cronholm and her daughter, Colleen; a traditional reading of "Why the Chimes Rang" by Mrs. William Goodale, and a vocal by Tyna Francies.

Miss Edna Smith and Mrs. Anthony Longhini are co-chairmen of the festival, which is sponsored by the Fellowship League of the church.

Potting Shed

by Mary B. Good

Ever hear of poison sumac, poison elder or swamp sumac? A sumac by any of these names means trouble.

Dr. Charles Ackermann, our man at the Chicago Park District, elaborated on the boils one gets from poison sumac and how they can send a victim to the hospital. He said he talked from first-hand experience.

"POISON SUMAC likes 'wet feet,' " said Dr. A. "Seldom does regular sumac grow anywhere but on dry land. Poison sumac fruit is produced in the axil of the branch. The fruit of the Staghorn is produced on the terminal end of the branch (like sorghum). The poison sumac leaves are about three inches wide and 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 inches long. Staghorn leaves are longer — four to five inches long — and skinnier — about 1 1/2 inches wide.

All this seems technical, but you'd be surprised how carefully a person listens when the threat of a bodyful of boils looms menacingly close.

Looking for excitement? If you've got $2,807 for excitement, the Field Museum of Natural History in Chicago has just the thing for flora and fauna buffs — an Andean "safari."

An eight-day cruise of South America and the Galapagos Islands will offer tourists the chance to catch their own turtle oil, I presume. A naturalist from Quito, S.A., and an archeologist will accompany the group through their garden tour. Dec. 31 through Jan. 29 or Feb. 4 through March 5 are the dates for the spree. Price includes all expenses and a tax-deductible donation to the museum.

Pancake fest set by club

LEMONT — The annual pancake breakfast sponsored by the Lemont Methodist Men's Club will be held at the new Lemont Methodist Church, 25 W. Custer, Saturday, Dec. 5. Service will be from 6:30 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Pancakes covered with hot syrup and served with sausages will be the menu of the day. Chief chef will again be Walt Tedens, 37 Logan St. The crew of waiters will be headed by Chuck Wood, 1029 Cherokee Pl.

The price of "all you can eat" is $1. Tickets will be available at the door or from the members of the Methodist Men's club.

European tours for Thornton

A six-week European tour is being offered to Thornton Community College students by Western Illinois University for the summer quarter, 1971.

The tour will offer an international, intercultural experience in the fields of language, history, political science, music and the cultural disciplines.

Another purpose is to service the specific requests of the departments of music and foreign languages for overseas educational tours. It will provide junior colleges in this region with an educational travel program for which they have expressed interest.

Students may enroll for up to eight quarter hours of university credit.

Those students at TCC who would like to join the tour may register for the course as transient students at the university.

CELEBRATING

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Bernardin, 189th St. and Wolf Rd., Mokena, recently celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary by renewing their vows at a mass celebrated for them at St. Mary Church, Mokena. Driver class is scheduled

NEW LENOX — Ronald Stopka, coordinator of physical education, driver education and athletics at Lincoln-Way High School, has announced the introduction of an adult driver education class starting Tuesday, Dec. 8, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in Room 125. Classes will be every Tuesday night for 10 weeks.

The course will be open to adults of the Lincoln-Way Community High School District and will include 20 hours of classroom instruction and six hours of driving instruction. The classroom phase will cover instruction in insurance, new Illinois laws, driving fundamentals, and most common driving errors. Vision, brake reaction, night vision, and depth perception will also be included. Adults will be made aware of their physical deficiencies, along with instruction on how to correct or compensate for these deficiencies.

Each adult will receive six hours of driving instruction covering city, highway and expressway driving in a 1971 dual-control Chevrolet car supplied by Phillips Chevrolet, Frankfort.

Adults who live in the community and have a drivers license, or driver's permit or have applied for one are eligible to enroll. Class will be restricted to 25 students.

To register, one may call 815-485-2511 and ask for Mrs. Camper.

Deck hand Carrol Bewley of Wolf Creek, Ky., gives directions as the Spencer approaches the Lemont Shipyard.

Canal's big man

LEMONT -- Arthur E. Whitey Grosskopf is a big man on the canal in more ways than one.

Many river people firmly believe that Whitey knows the Chicago Ship and Sanitary Canal better than any other tow boat captain. And he weighs 300 pounds.

Whitey has put 34 years of service into the river. For nearly three years he has been captain of the Spencer, a service tow boat which works pushes loads under low bridges between Lemont and Chicago, working where the big boats are unable to operate.

Whitey boasts about being a family man with seven children, scoffing at the river rat image. "The rough-shot river rat element is gone," Whitey explains. "Years ago the river was terrible because no one made any money. Since they've come up with descent wages, we have good men.

"Most of my men are family men, too. What it takes is a good, considerate wife. You see we work 30 days on the river, then are off 15 days. It's a disrupted life.

"Making up barges is the real strenuous work. This boat travels on its stomach can't expect men to do their work if they don't eat right."

The Spencer crew of eight does eat well. They devour over $260 in groceries weekly, including at least 12 gallons of milk.

At times, work in the pilot house is frustrating. Heavy canal traffic, incomplete work orders and mechanical breakdowns slow down their progress.

"A lot of times you have to bite your tongue you get so mad," Whitey says. Today we sat here three hours because we've got a frozen control line in the pilot house. This is no pace for a nervous man like me. But once we get it fixed, we'll take off like a herd of turtles.

"Figure there's 1,200 tons of material in each barge. We usually tow in three barges; that's 3600 tons or equal to 90 jumbo railroad cars. Now you can do a lot of damage with all that weight. If you don't go slow by tied-up barges, the turbulence would tear 'em up."

Some of the other pilots depend on Whitey's knowledge of the canal. They seek locations of docks in the congested Chicago area, if three barges can fit into a particular slip and so forth. Above all, Whitey is considerate.

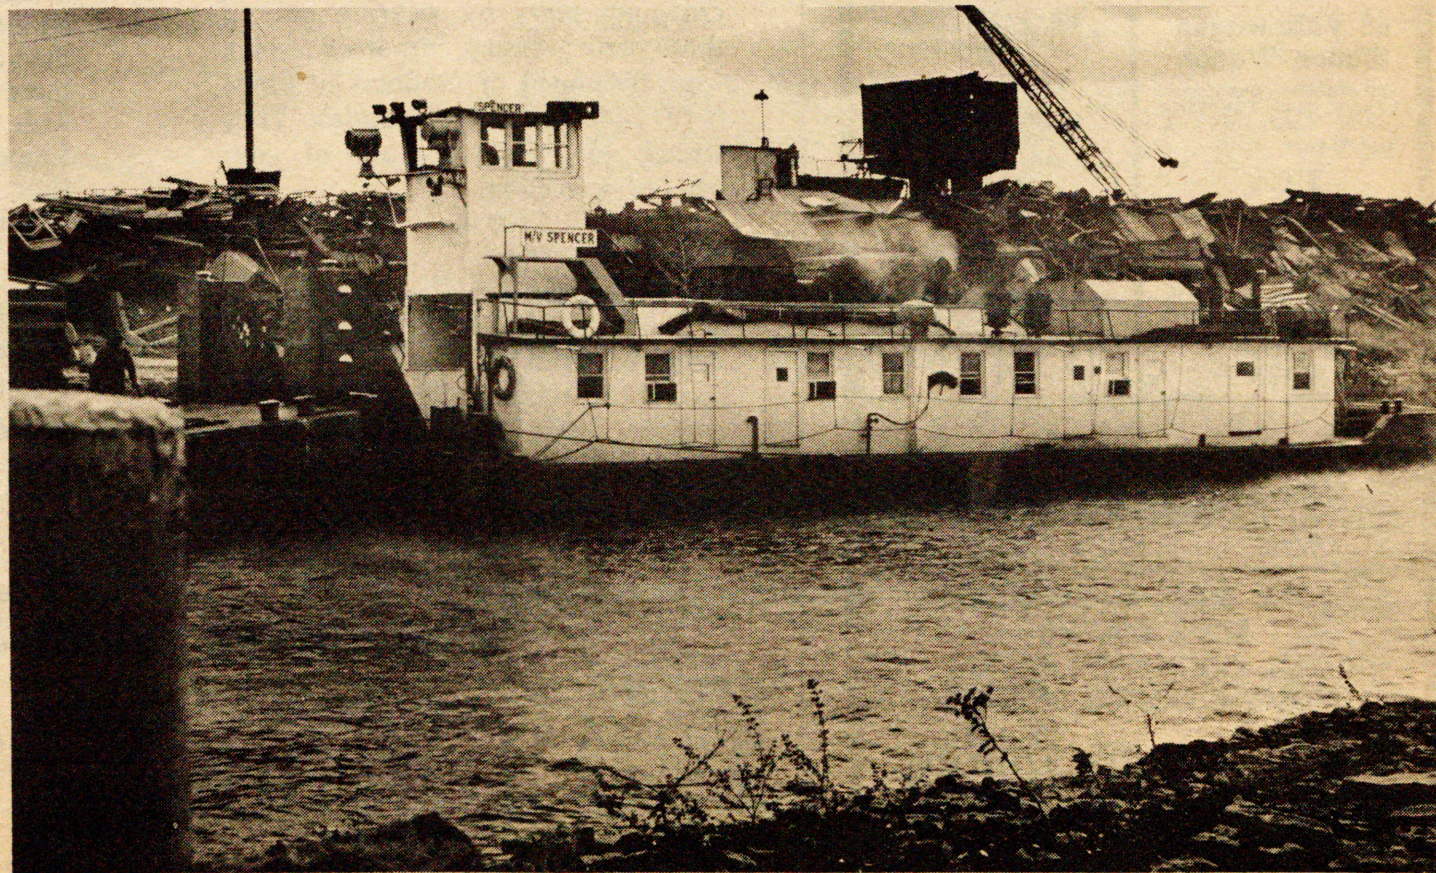

The pilot of the Ida Crown, after getting his assistance, pays Whitey a compliment, "You're a gentleman, scholar and I promise not to call you "Fatty" anymore."

The reply from the Spencer' "You should of pulled over and I'd give you some magazines from our galley. Got a few pictures in 'em."

"Good, I like to look at pictures."

"You ought to learn to read," Whitey shoots back. "And I'll say good morning."

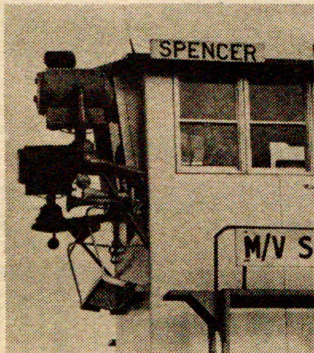

The Spencer, one of the smallest of 40 tow boats owned by the American Commercial Barge Line, Jeffersonville, Ind., chugs along the Chicago Ship and Sanitary Canal. Over 22 million tons of material passed through the Lockport Lock in 1969, with figures expected to raise above that in 1970.

"There's always room for one more in the pilot house," captain Whitey Grosskopf says as he opens the door to off-duty crew members. "I'd let you sit on my lap, but I lost it," the 300-lb. giant adds.

Story and photos by Carl Voss

Crew members Ralph Sanders and Carroll Bewley down coffee in the galley between shifts.

The Spencer crew works day and night, year-round, through the worst weather and on holidays. Archie Skaggs ties up a load of coal which will be stored in the barge line's slip until delivery orders are completed.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) A fellow at the place where I work after school says I can stop income tax withholding on my pay if I want to. Is that right?

A) Yes, you may stop income tax withholding on your earnings if you owed no Federal income tax last year and expect to owe none this year. This is done by completing Form W44-E and giving it to your employer. If you earn less than $1725 this year you won't have to pay tax.

Q) The $70 payment I sent in several weeks ago was not deducted from the tax bill you sent me. What should I do?

A) Reduce the bill by the amount of your last payment and pay the difference. Return the bill with your payment and note on it the amount of your previous payment, the date paid and where it was sent. What might have happened is that the bill issued before your payment had been processed and credited to your account.

Sometimes, however, payments are received that cannot be credited because there is insufficient information to identify the payment. This happens when the payment is received without an accompanying bill or notice and the payment is not identified by the taxpayer's social security number.

If the payment carries a social security number then it can be readily identified and credited to the taxpayer's account.

Q) My neighbors tell me I can sell my house and not pay any tax on the profit since I'm over 65. Can I really do that?

A) Yes, all or part of the profits from the sale of the home may be tax free if you are 65 or over before the date of the sale and owned and used the house as your principal residence for at least five of the last eight years.

When these conditions are met, all the profit is tax free when the adjusted sales price is $20,000 or less. When the price is above that, only a proportionate part of the profit is taxable.

For details in this and other benefits for taxpayers 65 and over, send a post card to your district office and ask for a free copy of Publication 554, Tax Benefits for Older Americans.

It's a gateway

By Jean Rouse

"The Gateway for All Handicapped" is one of several organizations dedicated to helping the handicapped of this area. George Marousek is one of the keepers of this "gate," and he has helped many a handicapped child find his way through.

Marousek, himself handicapped by having only two percent of normal hearing, has long been involved in helping others. Convinced of the value of swimming for both mental and physical handicaps, he teaches children to "take to the water."

Several of these children were much afraid of the water; several did not walk. Marousek, however, does not take "no" for an answer. He radiates confidence and security, and the kids absorb his attitude. He doesn't force, but he gets them into the water, and sure enough, they find they can do it.

The benefits are twofold. Muscles long unused begin to function as the child relaxes, and the pleasure of achievement begins to affect other areas. "I can do it too!" Their progress is surprising.

Marousek's dream is to see a new facility, including a specially equipped pool, built just for these children. He says, "There are some good programs going on at the Farm Club, at Little Friends, and at the small sheltered workshop in Westmont, but a consolidation of all these efforts could open a new world for our handicapped."

According to Marousek, most of these children can become self-supporting if they get the proper training, and get it early. Often the handicapped child's worst enemy is his parents. Out of love and concern, too often the handicapped child is over-protected. He receives little discipline and too little is expected of him. Yet with training already offered here some 50 percent have been able to return to a normal school room.

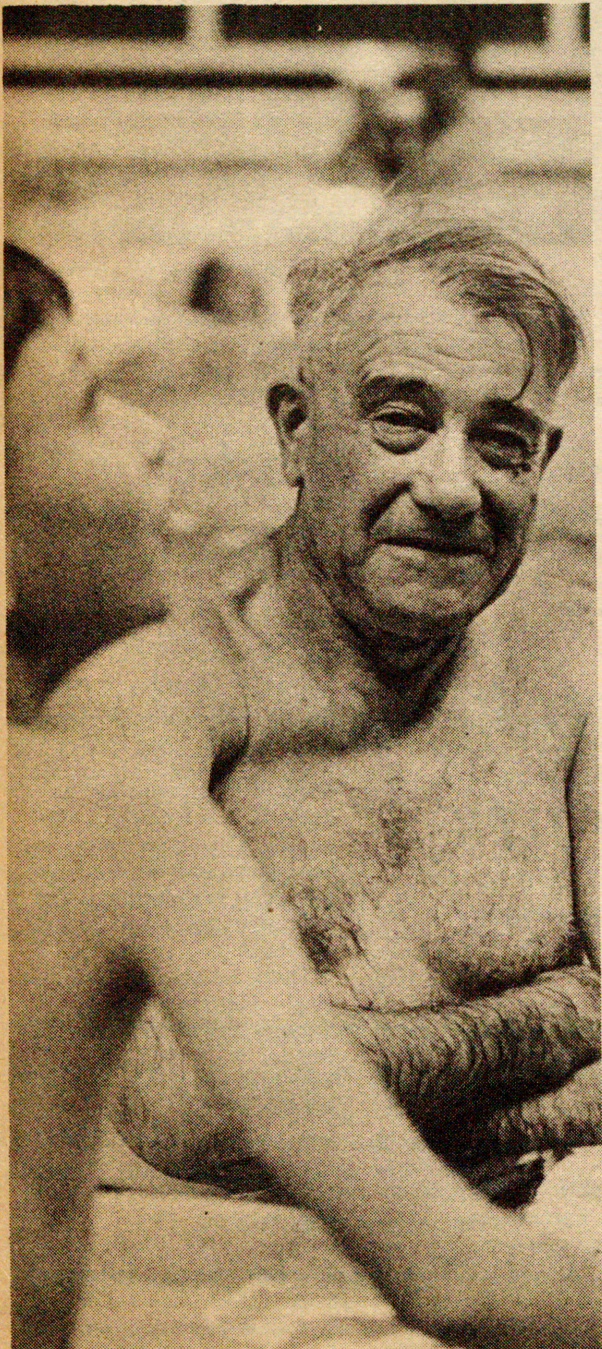

Others, more severely damaged, have still been able to find pleasure in living and working with others, and to become self-supporting. From a purely practical standpoint, says Marousek, it is surely better to spend time, money and effort to make these children independent than to support them in institutions.

Marousek has a dream: money and staff to provide the training so badly needed for the child with special problems. He himself has a special kind of patience. He radiates confidence, but demands the best from his charges. And he gets it. Without pressure, without hurry or strain, Marousek says, "Yes, you can!" And the youngsters find they really can.

Perhaps, in time, the community will share his dream. Perhaps the interest and the money can be found to give each of these "special" ones the means to develop to his fullest, no matter how severe his limitations. Maybe the community had better begin to think about it. George Marousek is not a man to give up easily.

Lincoln-Way record 3-0

By David Wright

LOCKPORT — Lincoln-Way's fighting Knights boosted their record to 3-0 Saturday night winning the championship of the Lockport Central invitational basketball tournament by defeating the host Lockport Porters 69-68.

Head Coach Brad Bound's Knights kept the Lockport cagers from the championship for the first time in the history of the nine-year-old tournament.

It appeared to be a Lincoln-Way romp in the first quarter as the team jumped out to an early 22-9 lead with the hot-handed shooting of Bill Simpson and the offensive rebounding of Terry Ryan and Dave Thacker. Head coach Bob Basarich's Porters were plagued by cold shooting and good defensive play by the entire Knight squad.

The second eight minutes weren't much better for the Porters, as Lincoln-Way went into the locker room with a 36-25 lead. Ellis Files was the Porters' only bright spot during the first half, scoring 11 points and eight rebounds.

Coming out of the intermission, the Porters were ready to play as they picked up eight straight points to come within three points of the Knights. Billy Thompson and Isaiah Harper led the way as the Knights were outscored, 26-18, by the Porters, but Lincoln-Way still held a 54-51 lead at the end of three periods of play.

The Porters continued their comeback hopes in the final period. With a little less than two minutes left in the game, they took the lead, 64-63. After trading baskets, Lincoln-Way took the lead, 67-66, on a field goal by Ryan. Gregg Mundt then gave the Knights a three point lead, 69-66, with 31 seconds left on the clock.

Files scored two more points for the Porters to bring them within one point of a tie, but Lincoln-Way ran the last seven seconds out by holding the ball.

The Knights and Porters

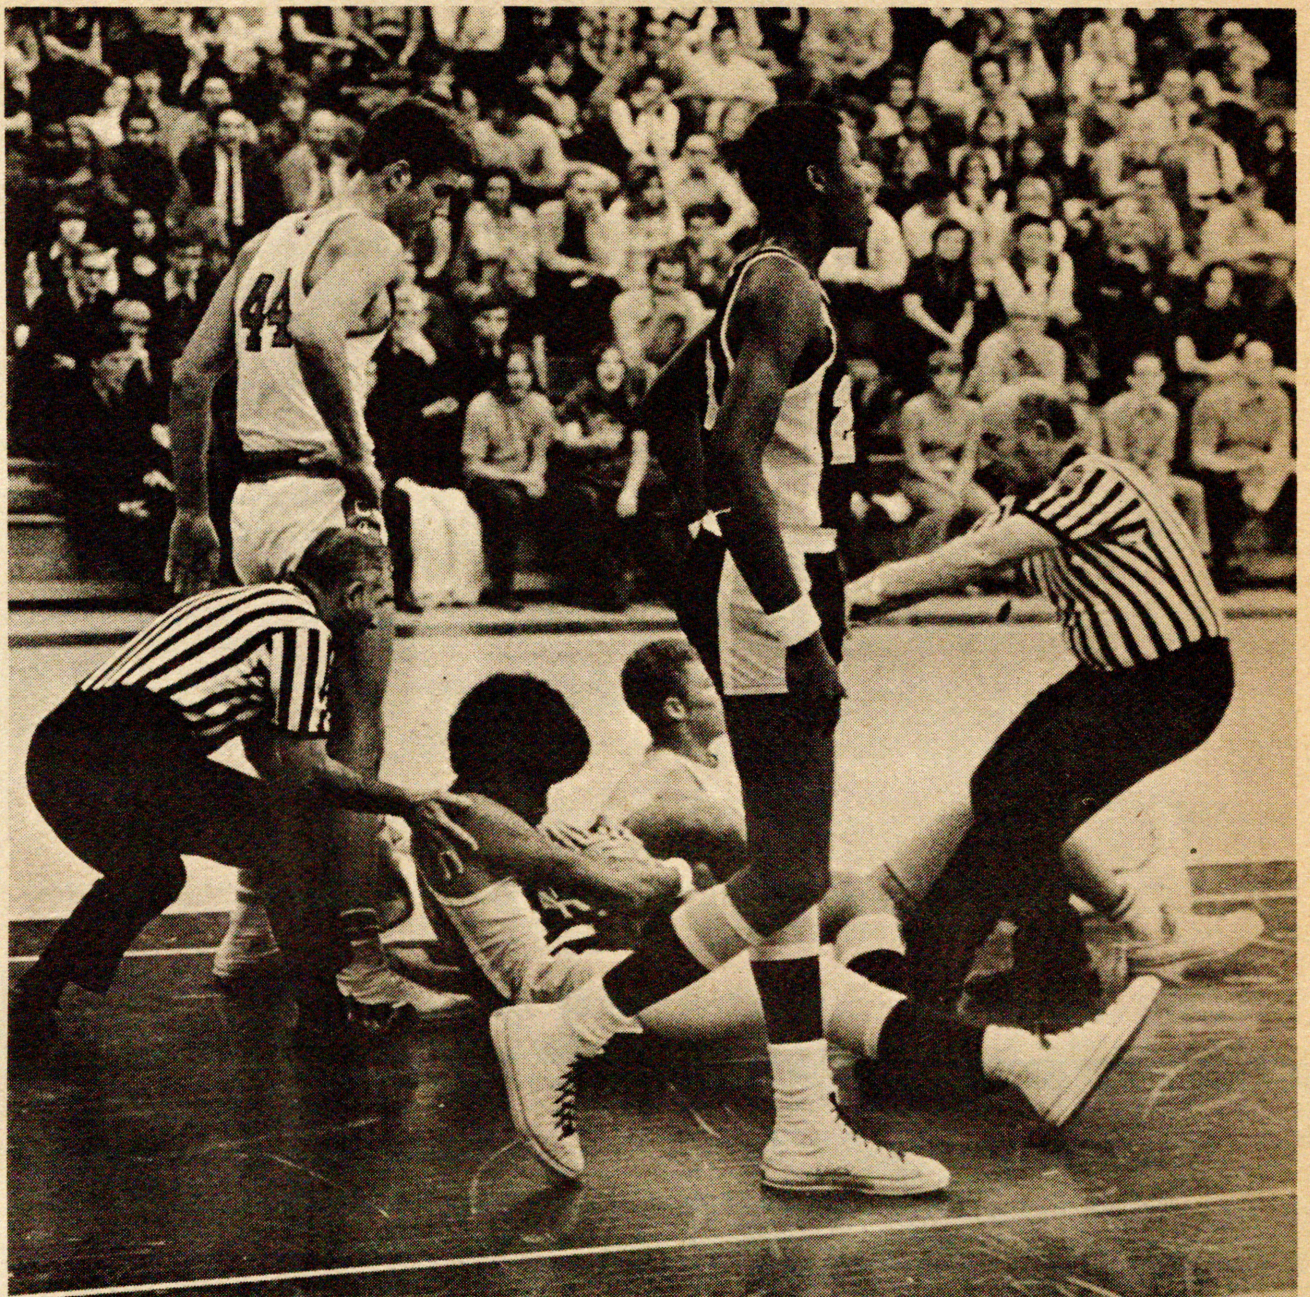

both had balanced scoring attacks and came out even on rebounds, but the initial period made the difference in the outcome.

Injuns capture cage tourney

By Jim Ruppert

LISLE -- The mini-Lemont Injuns basketball team emerged as champs of the Benet Thanksgiving round-robin tournament last Saturday at Benet Academy, Lisle. A come-from-behind victory over the Reavis Rams, accomplished by Steve Pociask's free throw with six seconds left in the game, locked it up for the Injuns, 52-51.

At half time, the score was Reavis 29, Lemont 16, but the Injuns came back in the second half, giving Injun fans a sample of the team's potential.

Leading scorer in the victory was Dick Pierce, who had 14 points. He was followed by Steve Pociask and Roger Weber, who added 10 and nine points respectively.

Zee Bees victorious in consolation match

The Zion-Benton Zee Bees toppled the Lockport West Spartans in an uneven consolation game battle last Saturday in Chicago Heights. It was no consolation for the Spartans; they lost 92-69.

Zee Bee Burt Fredrickson was top scorer in the game with 23 points, followed by Jeff Bicket with 21. Top scorer for the Spartans was Les Smith with 14, followed by Terry Hawks with 12.

Zion-Benton had an early edge in the first quarter. The Spartans had many turnovers.

The quarter ended with the Zee-Bees on top, 24-8.

The 16-point edge was the payoff for the game. Although West was only five points below Zion-Benton in scoring during the second quarter, the half-time score was 46-25.

There was only a one-point difference in scoring in the third and fourth quarters, 20-19 and 26-25, but the Zee Bees still had the edge, 92-69.

Lockport West, with its new coach, Mike Keasler, is now 0-3 on the season.

Political Beat

By Charles Hufnagel

It has been President Nixon all the way in this high-level skirmish between the GOP chief executive and a Democratic Congress to fix limits for campaign spending in future elections.

Not only a failure to override his veto Monday but the cogency of the presidential criticism of the campaign dollar-limiting proposal has denied Democratic leaders the political profit they were sure would fall to them.

The measure was passed and vetoed before the Nov. 3 election when this big-dollar campaign spending was riding its crest. It then looked like good politics and lots of favorable publicity to oppose "millionaire contributions." It appeared to put Mr. Nixon in a position of having to play ball with a Democratic Congress or risk public disapproval for vetoing a proposal that sought to end an offending practice.

A good student of gridiron tactics, the President accepted the challenge and ran the ball out. He not only vetoed the bill but made some extra yardage by saying the Democratic Congress, though moving in the right direction, wasn't going far enough by limiting spending restrictions to TV and radio. He argued that spending across the whole campaign spectrum had to be taken into account to make such measure effective. This is hard to contradict.

The implications are that neither party shies away from big spending when the money can be found. Both major parties have always tapped their affluent partisans and in the case of Democrats, affluent unions. This ready source of funds for their adversaries (voluntary contributions) perennially irks Republicans. It's nonsense to ignore the quid pro quo aspect of any major political contribution.

Since World War II, American citizens have been conscious of a growing affluence and a top-dog status in the world. The dollar speaks loudly and everywhere. As Karl Marx liked to remind his capitalist friends, what happens in the market place finds expression in politics. Dollars do not discriminate between Republicans and Democrats; they hear a different drummer whose name is Gain.

With such assumptions, the Nixon doctrine on campaign spending adds up to a constructive approach. In the public mind is the knowledge that money and politics mixed with indiscretion can corrupt. The preventive is the appeal to the good sense of leaders in both parties, as the President suggests. For unless corrective steps are taken against what the rank-and-file consider a growing evil in American politics, both parties could easily suffer a loss of confidence at the polls. The New York Senate race is proof enough that you don't have to wear a Democratic or Republican label to win a major election.

Naturally, the Democrats are put out because Mr. Nixon has emerged from this strictly partisan engagement smelling like a rose. In the test to override his veto, he has strengthened his hold on the Republican Party.

Plan Con-Con discussion

JOLIET — The Will County Conservative Organization will sponsor a public debate on the issues of the Constitutional Convention. Speaking in favor will be Mrs. Helen Harshbarger, president of the Joliet League of Women Voters.

Taking the opposing view will be Mrs. Adeline Dropka, vice president of the Save Our Suburbs organization. There will be a question-and-answer period following the statements of position.

The program will be presented at 8 p.m. Monday, Dec. 7, at the First Lutheran Church of Joliet, Benton at Ottawa St., Joliet. Larry Berg, chairman of WCCO, will act as moderator.

ARBURY HILLS — The Arbury Hills School basketball team will begin its season with home games against Orland Park Thursday, Dec. 3, and Kirby School Tuesday, Dec. 8.

St. Mary's School opened its conference basketball season with an away game against St. Alexander. Both games were wide-open affairs. The lightweights lost, 44 to 12, with several of St. Mary's teammates fouling out and feelings running high over officiating.

The heavyweight game was a wide-open score in reverse, with St. Mary's boys defeating St. Alexander's 72 to 42.

The next game on the schedule is Wednesday, Dec. 9 at home on the Willowcrest court against St. Emeric. Both the lightweight and heavyweight teams will play this conference match.

Insurance Questions

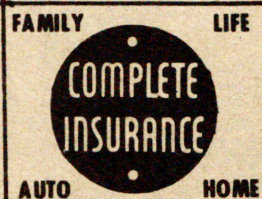

QUESTION:

I have heard that when you buy a Homeowners insurance policy, things like smoke damage and explosion damage have been eliminated from the coverage to cut down the cost. Is this correct?

ANSWER:

It is certainly not correct. No coverage has been deleted. The saving has been accomplished by the grouping of various coverages in an all-inclusive "package" which gives the home owner even better insurance for less money.

A Thought To Remember BY BOB HIRSCH

"I don't like him. I don't know why but I just can't stand him (or her)." How often have you heard it? Quite often of course.

Such loathing can and does harm the loather more than the loathed. Let's consider the thought. Isn't it ludicrous to dislike some one for no reason? In a true religious sense, animosity should not exist even if there is a reason for it. Let's carry the thought further. Both the Old Testament (Deut. 6:5) and the New Testament (Matt. 22:37) say, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind." Isn't it a simple question to ask, "How can we love God, Whom we have not seen, when we don't love (or even like) people we do see?"

Remove the human sinfulness of hatred and you remove the cause of a basic conflict between men. Impossible? Of course it is for those who won't or don't try.

Government
draws 341

Brad Bransky, coordinator of the Southwest YM-CA Youth and Government program, has announced that there are 341 high school students from the area registered this year.

Dave Dawson, director of youth services for the Palos/Orland area, says 153 of the registrants are from Sandburg, Stagg and Sacred Heart high schools.

The seven-month statewide program will culminate in April when Illinois Youth converge on the legislative chambers in the state capitol for three days of debate, committee hearings and voting on bills they have prepared.

The presiding officers are youths elected the first day in Springfield.

Moraine joins association

Moraine Valley Community College is the first community college in Illinois to become a member of the National Industrial Recreation Association (NIRA).

According to Howie Scheidt coordinator of the recreation leadership program at the college, the membership will be a valuable source for information services as well as a contact for placement of MVCC students.

The NIRA is a non-profit organization that was formed to improve the caliber and standards of educational recreation throughout United States and Canada.
